

California Recall

The San Diego Incident – reported January 18th 2021

The adverse reactions occurred at San Diego County's drive-through mass vaccination site at Petco Park, after Moderna batch – 041L20A was given to 6 health care workers. Their symptoms were severe and required medical attention.

As a consequence California's top epidemiologist told all 288 health care providers in the state to stop using this batch and discard the 330,000 doses of this batch that were already in circulation.

What does VAERS record for this batch for 2021?

VAERS database contains 2762 reports of adverse reactions for this batch, which include

- 34 deaths (2 of which occurred in California)
- 28 disabilities
- 33 life threatening illnesses
- 123 hospitalisations.

This singular batch destroyed the lives of 62 people, and put another 123 in hospital.

Where was it distributed?

This batch was distributed to 38 states, not just California. It is curious that it was allowed to circulate in the other states after California had withdrawn it.

As you can see, the states experiencing most deaths from this batch are –

- Georgia
- Minnesota
- Tennessee
- California
- Florida
- Michigan
- Texas
- Kentucky
- Illinois
- Indiana
- Wisconsin

Geographical Distribution of Deaths

As you can see, a mixture of blue and red states experienced the highest number of deaths – however, there is a geographical pattern.

In the map above, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota all are located on an axis or line – which corresponds roughly to interstate 75.

Delayed Deaths

In addition to this, the states of – Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota – display a phenomena of delayed death following vaccination – which has been described in detail here - The Second Peak \(howbadismybatch.com\)

The reason for the delayed death phenomenon is because the vaccine distributed in these states has an effect for a longer period of time. Normally a medication will be gradually excreted from the body as time passes, and consequently its effects and concentration will diminish with time. In the case of the above mentioned states, the effects do not appear to diminish with time suggesting that vaccine is being replaced at the same rate that it is excreted – the hallmark of a self-amplifying vaccine.

Conclusion

So the particularly high toxicity of batch 041L20A might be attributed to it being a self-amplifying vaccine, that consequently had a longer lasting effect within the body – leading to more deaths.

It is curious that most deaths occur on a geographical axis extending from Florida to Minnesota – suggesting that the deployment of this batch was focused onto the select states along this axis.
